

Vita

Seamus Lonergan
Melbourne, Australia

sjtl@seamuslonergan.com

January 16, 2025
v.1.25

Fiction

Lonergan, S. "Teres Major" Splinter Journal, edited by Farrin Foster, Issue 1, Writers SA, November 2024, pp. 174-185

Non-fiction - Financial History

Lonergan, S. "Off the Run: Piero Sraffa and Imperial Japanese Government Bonds" Self Published, February 2024

Lonergan, S. "Off the Run Redux: Revisiting the Imperial Japanese Government 1930 Conversion Loan" Self Published, April 2024

Other

ISCMNS Archival Group (November 2023 - present)

As a member of the International Society for Condensed Matter Nuclear Science's archival group, in addition to general collection and accession work, I write descriptive metadata and content for the society's archive and web presence.

Feedback

"Apart from the true melody of the writing, just Seamus' ability to imagine himself into this completely other world and these very real feeling characters; absolutely astounded by it."

Farrin Foster

Editor, Splinter Journal

"Sometimes, you come across an article about something that happened in the past that's too good not to share. ... These kind of stories look easy to compile and write, but they're not."

Reed Stevenson

Senior Editor, Bloomberg News

"I was completely fascinated by the story."

Hideyuki Sano

Senior Reporter, Bloomberg News

"Very interesting story about Piero Sraffa and his investments in Imperial Japanese Government Bonds."

Dr. Hossein B. Kazumi

Professor of Finance, University of Massachusetts

Editor, Journal of Alternative Investments

Media

Books on the Go (Podcast)

Episode 275: Australian Literature with Farrin Foster. December 2024

Farrin Foster, editor of Splinter Journal, discusses emerging Australian writers with podcast host Anna Baillie-Karas.